A STEIN SONG

RICHARD HOVEY

FREDERIC FIELD BULLARD, '37

Andante con moto

f marcato

1. Give a rouse, then, in the May-time, For a life that knows no fear!
Turn night-time into day-time With the sunlight of good air,
And we've faith and hope aplenty, And we've life and love to cheer!
For it's always fair weather When good fellows get to spare;
And it's birds of a feather When good fellows get to-

mf leggiero, con brio

*) The words are used by permission.
) The tradition, had from the composer, is one of zestful and vigorous performance of this song, at an animated, though unhurried pace. Editor.

Copyright MDCGXXVIII by Oliver Ditson Company
Copyright renewed MGMXVIII by Maud S. Bullard Gather, Gather, With a stein on the table and a

Chorus

Cresc. e rit. (in Harmony, ad lib.) a tempo good song ringing clear; For it's always fair heart without a care; And it's birds of a

Weather When good fellows get together, With a Feather When good fellows get together, With a

Stein on the table and a good song ringing clear.
Stein on the table and a heart without a care.

*First Tenors sing the upper small notes, Second Tenors and First Basses the melody, Second Basses the lower or small notes, dividing for the last two chords. F.F.B.
3. For we know the world is glorious, And the goal a golden thing, And that wind comes up from Cuba And the birds are on the wing, And our hearts are pattering juba To the banjo of the

God is not censorious When His children have their fling; And life slips its tether When Then life slips its tether When

* The 4th verse may be reserved for an encore.
good fellows get together, With a stein on the table in the fellowship of spring; And life slips its tether When fellowship of spring; Then life slips its tether When

Chorus
(in Harmony, ad lib.)

When
good fellows get together, With a stein on the good fellows get together, With a stein on the table in the fellowship of spring.
table in the fellowship of spring.